Permit for construction of five retail stores on the northwest corner of Fisgard and Government Street was issued today to George Joe. Cost of the brick building is $25,000. Architect is D. C. Frame and Luney Brothers the contractor.

A permit for the erection of a 6-room house at 1120 Finlayson Street, costing $6,000, was also issued W. L. Hodgkin.

Jap Acquitted

YOKOHAMA (AP)—Matsutake Sakakibara, former supply sergeant at a Hokkaido prison camp, was acquitted today of charge of beating a U.S. merchant seaman, John Knudsen of New York City, with a Samurai sword. The brief trial was held by an 8th Army military tribunal.

Jews Demonstrate

FRANKFURT, Germany (Reuter)—Demonstrations attended by an estimated 35,000 Jews were held today in 17 Jewish displaced persons camp in the United States zone of occupied Germany to commemorate the killings of a Jew by a German policeman in a Stuttgart camp last week. There were no scenes of violence.

Defects in Houses

LONDON (CP)—Health Minister Aneurin Bevan said in the House of Commons today he was glad the lend-lease shipments of U.S.-built prefabricated houses stopped last September, because of some unspecified "defects" in their construction.

Pepper Says Allies Ganging On Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Claude Pepper (Dem.-Fla.), asserted in the Senate today that the United States is joining with other countries in "ganging up on Russia"—a contention which Senator Carl Hatch (Dem.-N.M.), hotly disputed.

Declaring anybody who raises a voice in support of Russia is called a Communist, Pepper said the U.S. seemed to be joining with Great Britain in a "Siamese-twin fraternal alliance" directed against the Soviet.

Appeal to Allies

CHUNGKING (AP)—Gen. Chou En-lai, Communist spokesman, today demanded the Allies give China a chance to establish democracy and asserted that "careless assistance from foreign nations . . . will increase disorders here."

His statement was made as he and other Communists renewed their verbal assaults on the government and the Kuomintang (National Party), further widening the breach that Gen. George C. Marshall's recent truce efforts narrowed only temporarily.

3 Ex-Premiers in Greek Cabinet; Inquiry Before Throne Decision

ATHENS (AP)—Apanayotis Poulitsas, President of the Supreme State Council, was designated today as the new premier of Greece. After full agreement had been reached between Populist and Nationalist Bloc leaders. The Populist Party and Nationalist Bloc were the leading elements in the March 31 election. A new cabinet will be sworn in tonight, it was announced.

Three former premiers, George Papandreou, Panayotis Kamellipoulos and Sophocles Venizelos, will serve as ministers without portfolios.

Papandreou said the question of a plebiscite on the return of King George II would not be raised without a thorough examination from the viewpoint of Greek national interests alone.

Meanwhile the four left-wing parties of the E.A.M.-K.K.E. have attacked the validity of last Sunday's elections because only one-half of the registered voters went to the polls and have called on Regent Archbishop Damaskinos to prepare the way for new balloting.

A statement signed by the four parties, which boycotted the election and declined to put up candidates, described as "bogus" the Parliament elected Sunday and asked the "great allies to rectify" the situation.

Reuter reported today that with returns from only 90 polling states outstanding, the popular votes of the parties at midday today was: Populists (Royalists), 588,809; Centre Bloc (Nationalist-Union), 207,323; Liberals, 156,636; Zeivas Party (Extreme Right-Wing), 62,117; Tourkovassilis (Royalist), 25,032. Left-wing leaders declared that

Woman Suspect In Spy Probe To Ask Quick Trial

OTTAWA (CP)—Judgment was reserved by Magistrate Glenn Strike today in the case of Mrs. Emma Woikin and argument on evidence began in the preliminary hearing of Sqn. Ldr. N. S. Nightingale as espionage hearings continued here. Both face charges under the Official Secrets Act as alleged links in a Russian network of agents.

The Crown-based its case against Mrs. Woikin on evidence she gave before the Royal Commission on Espionage.

Highlights of the morning were:
1. Announcement that Mrs. Woikin will elect speedy trial by a judge if committed on the Official Secrets Act charges.

2. Evidence given by Wing Cmdr. G. M. Fawcett, director of the R.C.A.F. electronic research division and former signals chief, in the Nightingale case.

Nightingale formerly served under him as an expert in the communications field.

Wing Cmdr. Fawcett was called to identify four R.C.A.F. documents on communications filed by the Crown. The witness said two of them could have been taken by a member of the force after discharge.

One was secret at the time of Nightingale's discharge, but had been not secret since V-J Day. A fourth was still "restricted," but its information, he said, could probably be found in a manual of the Bell Telephone Company.

TO STUDY EVIDENCE

The Nightingale case was adjourned until next Wednesday to allow the defence to study the evidence the accused gave before the Royal Commission.

Judgment in the Woikin case will be delivered on the same day.

Seven other espionage cases remained until today were further remanded until next Thursday.

Mrs. Woikin's case lasted only a few minutes.

Defence lawyer J. Erichsen-Brown told the magistrate he was prepared to accept this evidence and commitment of Mrs. Woikin for trial on charges under the Official Secrets Act, but this acceptance did not extend to the conspiracy charges.

Offences of the 25-year-old Blaine Lake, Sask., woman were allegedly committed while she

Whitehorse, Where Canada Took Over Northern Highway

An event which will take its place in history was staged Wednesday at the head of navigation on the Yukon River. At Whitehorse, Y.T., the sections of the Alaska Highway which run through B.C. and the Yukon were turned over by the U.S., which built them as a war measure, to the government of Canada. The telephone lines and airports were included in the shift. It is planned the road, renamed the Northwest Highway System, will eventually be equipped for tourist travel with hotels, stores and service stations. See story "Northwest Highway" Page 2.

Russo-Iran Dispute Shelved Till May 6 Over Vigorous Protest of Australian

NEW YORK (CP)—A majority of the United Nations Security Council lined up today for a U.S. resolution to shelve the Iranian case against Russia until May 6, but Australia's representative voiced a strong protest at the procedure. He announced he would refrain from voting on it.

Nine of the Council's 11 members voted for the Byrnes resolution, which is based on Russia's promise to the Council Wednesday that her troops will be withdrawn from Iran by early May. Voting for the resolution were China, The Netherlands, France, Mexico, Poland, Britain, Brazil, Egypt and the United States.

After Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala had stated his government's acceptance of the deferment and Mr. Byrnes had thanked the Council members for adopting his resolution, the Council adjourned at 12:46 p.m. until next Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Russian Ambassador Andrei Gromyko's continued absence counted for one vote and the abstention of Australia's W. R. Hodgson for the other.

Addressing the Council of Volunteer War Workers in the British occupation zone, he said: "We have got to stay here until we are satisfied that what took place in the last six years cannot take place again. This means a lengthy occupation and I would say that there is no possibility of troops going away in the next 10 years from now."

The Field Marshal said that although Germany had survived the winter without widespread epidemics or real starvation, and the "Battle of the Winter" might be considered won, "the food situation at the moment is worse than it has been at any time since we have been in this country."

"There is no doubt the Germans are going to have a very bad time next winter."

EASES ALL QUESTIONS

Mr. Byrnes declared Russia's assurances should be accepted as satisfactory and that by deferring the case now the Council could ask reports on it May 6—by which time the Russians should be out of Iran. Council President Quo Tai-chi (of China) said he hoped Iran and Russia would settle all their troubles and make further discussion unnecessary.

It was Col. Hodgson, fiery grey-haired diplomat in the best Australian tradition of a minority protester, who added the final fireworks to the crisis-laden case.

He said Mr. Gromyko's walk-out a week ago had "prejudiced the work, efficiency and authority of the Council," that the decision to defer the case should not have been made until after full investigation, that Iran's complaints were being handled as a political incident rather than a whole vital situation.

He emphatically told his colleagues "this case was a challenge to the Security Council and in our opinion the Council did not meet it."

He hunched over the Council table as he spoke in sharp, terse sentences and when the vote was taken he kept his hands firmly on the table.

Throughout the proceedings Ala was at the Council table and he expressed Iran's acceptance of the Byrnes-sponsored resolution.

It was believed, said the slight, quiet-voiced diplomat, that withdrawal of Russian troops would ease all Iran's problems. At the same time he declared:

"It is understood that the questions of the withdrawal of troops and interference in the affairs of Iran remain on the agenda to be brought up at any time."

As for the Council work on the case, he said "Iran has received assurances from the United Nations that it could not have obtained by itself."

In short order Egypt, Brazil, Britain endorsed the Byrnes resolution, which took note of the Russian assurances that the

13 Conservatives Object to Choice; Cabinet Up Two

The new attorney-general, Gordon S. Wisner, K.C., sworn in today at Government House, was appointed over the protest of the Progressive Conservative members of the provincial government, it was shown today after a caucus of Conservative members of the B.C. Legislature.

Immediately following the swearing-in ceremony, Premier John Hart announced he would increase the size of the provincial cabinet from eight to 10 members, thus increasing the Progressive Conservative representation from three to four.

The Premier's announcement said the appointments of the two new cabinet ministers would be made within a week or 10 days and that the Constitution Act would be immediately amended to effect the cabinet-adjustment.

'GRAVE SIGNIFICANCE'

The 13 Progressive Conservatives made public an interchange of correspondence with Premier Hart, including a resolution passed Tuesday, declaring the appointment of a successor to the Attorney-Generalship "fraught with grave significance to the Coalition government."

"The undersigned members of the Legislature urgently request the Premier that the appointment to the office of Attorney-General, or any reorganization of the cabinet, be deferred until such time as the provincial Progressive Conservative Leader is elected at a convention which will be called as expeditiously as possible," the resolution continued.

The Premier replied Wednesday that the government could not carry out its functions properly without an Attorney-General, for which reason he had to take immediate steps to fill the vacancy.

The Progressive Conservatives, however, advised the Premier that their group took the view that they must reaffirm the resolution.

"It is pointed out that had Mr. Maitland remained ill, no appointment would have been made, even if that condition had lasted for several months, and we feel that under all the circumstances our wishes, as partners in the Coalition, should be respected," Public Works Minister Herbert Anson wrote, with the endorsement of 12 other members.

Premier Hart replied by letter that he had to appoint an attorney-general immediately to take charge of legislation and also to prepare for the Dominion-provincial conference.

4 LIBERAL LAWYERS

"The four lawyers in the Legislature are Liberals, consequently the appointment of one of them will make six Liberals in the cabinet," the Premier wrote. "In order to keep a reasonable representation in the executive council for the two parties forming the government, I propose to increase the cabinet to 10 members, consisting of six Liberals and four Conservatives."

"This action will necessitate an amendment to the Constitution Act which could be done immediately," he continued.

"I should be glad if you would nominate two of your members for appointment to the Cabinet. The necessary amendments to the Constitution Act can be passed in time to permit these appointments to be made before the House prorogues, which should be in a week or 10 days."

"Portfolios will be arranged for your two additional members."

The Premier said that under the circumstances, the proposals outlined were considered to be fair, and had the approval of the Liberal members.

DESIRE TO CO-OPERATE

"I assure you of my sincere desire to co-operate for the continuation of the Coalition government," he said.

Those who signed the Tuesday resolution and endorsed Wednesday's letter to the Premier were: Herbert Anson, R. C. MacDonald, A. B. Ritchie, T. A. Love, Allan McDonnell, Don Brown, W. Johnson, W. A. C. Bennett, F. W. Green, Alex A. Hope, Tilly

HON. G. S. WISNER, K.C.,
... new Attorney-General.

Jean Rolston, L. H. Eyres and E. C. Carson.

While the adjustment planned by Premier Hart increases the Conservative cabinet representation by number, it does not necessarily mean that the Conservative strength in the cabinet is increased.

The Attorney-Generalship, considered the second-ranking cabinet position, is being taken over by Liberal Mr. Wisner, and it is expected that he may become deputy premier in the absence of Mr. Hart. The new Conservative cabinet minister will probably be named to minor posts now held by other ministers along with other portfolios.

OTHER ADJUSTMENTS

HINTED

Other adjustment within the provincial cabinet is hinted, however, with Works Minister Herbert Anson, temporary Progressive Conservative House Leader, mentioned for the post of finance minister, a position now held by Premier Hart. This would compensate for the Attorney-General's portfolio going to a Liberal, since the finance portfolio is major cabinet post.

SWEARING IN SERVICE

Mr. Wisner was sworn in at Government House at 11:30 this morning by Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward, who had flown from Vancouver earlier to perform the ceremony.

Russian Embassy Charges Gouzenko With Money Theft

OTTAWA (CP)—Issuing its first official statement in the Canadian espionage investigation, the Russian Embassy here today charged that Igor Gouzenko, former Russian Embassy cipher clerk and star witness in court cases, was "a criminal."

The 150-word statement charged that Gouzenko had stolen money from the Embassy and "is indictable for the committed crime in case of his return to Russia."

The statement said the Soviet Embassy deemed it its duty to declare that "the slanderous statements of the criminal" as well as the reports in Canadian newspapers based on the statements regarding diplomatic members of the Soviet Embassy in Canada "are completely fictitious and deserve no credit."

The statement, handed to the Canadian Press by Nikolai Anastev, bureau chief of the Tass News Agency, specifically named G. W. Pavlov and I. I. Krotov as members of the embassy it claimed had been slandered by Gouzenko.

Pavlov is listed as a second secretary at the Embassy and Krotov as commercial councillor. Prime Minister King read the embassy statement and said he had no comment to make.

Iranian Leftists Prepare to Seek Votes As Russian Troops Pull Out

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN

TEHRAN (AP)—Tudeh (leftist) candidates today began campaigning for the next parliamentary election as Russian troops were reported moving out of Iran in a manner which a government spokesman described as satisfactory.

Under Iranian law elections cannot be held as long as foreign troops remain on Iranian soil. At last seven Tudeh deputies in the last Parliament left Tehran to campaign in the provinces in the expectation that an election would follow the Russian withdrawal.

Abounasr Azad, Tudeh propaganda director, confidently predicted sweeping gains for his party, which opponents charge is Russian-supported.

He asserted the party was "no more Soviet-sponsored than leftist parties in England or America."

Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian Propaganda Minister, said the Russians had promised to complete the evacuation of Iran early in May "without any conditions whatsoever."

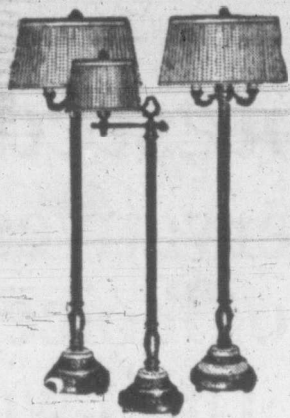

Prince Firouz told a press conference he had been advised that two or three shiploads of Russian troops already had departed through the Caspian Sea port of Pahlevi, about 150 miles northwest of Tehran.

Prince Firouz emphasized that

Labor Aid Sought In Proposals For Domestic Union

Co-operation in the setting up of a Victoria union for home service employees and general domestic help was sought from the Victoria Trades and Labor Council, members learned at the meeting Wednesday night.

At the request of the Civic Employees' Protective Association, the council will make every effort to have park and boulevard workers placed on the Unemployment Insurance list.

Following a report on the civic arena by George Wilkinson, the council decided to request again an evening meeting with the City Council to discuss plans for the Memorial Arena. A report on the recent City Council meeting on parking and traffic control was given and every effort urged to see that traffic recommendations of Police Chief J. A. McLellan was implemented.

Council decided to press at Ottawa for appointment of B.C. born persons only for civil service and Senate posts representative of B.C.

Correspondence was read from E. G. Robertson, secretary to the Prime Minister, and R. W. Mayhew, M.P., relative to the request of council that Victoria's mail delivery return to the prewar status or that mail carriers be compensated for extra work under present conditions.

Lionel Chevrier of the Ministry of Transport, Ottawa, acknowledged a letter from council on conditions in west coast light-houses. A donation will be forwarded to the Solarium, April Shower of Dimes with all locals urged to lend their support.

BUTTER SITUATION

In reply to a letter to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada regarding the butter situation, Percy R. Bengough, president, stated that Congress viewed the present conditions as serious and will take the matter under consideration at the forthcoming meeting. Council passed a motion that statements regarding the discharge of employees, 65 years and over, at the dockyard, be presented to the opposition leaders at Ottawa.

Dr. G. M. Shrum, director of the Extension Department, University of British Columbia, spoke on "Atomic Energy." He said that there was a feeling that civilization may have discovered something for which the world was not ready.

Owing to the fact that Canada possesses a great deal of the raw materials, she is greatly interested in the future of atomic energy, Dr. Shrum said.

New delegates seated were: Jack Roberts, International Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America; J. R. Archer, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; John Shearer of Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America; and J. W. Watson, Civic Employees' Protective Association.

Letitia Brings 946 Wives, Stowaway

HALIFAX (CP) — The liner Letitia docked here Wednesday with 946 wives and children of Canadian overseas veterans as passengers—and one stowaway aboard.

A merchant seaman, Harold Ward, 29, of Halifax, gave himself up to ship's officers when the Letitia was one day out from Liverpool.

Expect Continued Shirt Shortage Despite Increased Ceiling Prices

Victoria haberdashers today doubted that more men's shirts would be available as a result of higher prices permitted by the price board which allows for a 25-cent increase.

Manager of a department store shirt section said that he had been promised one-quarter of the shirts needed for the first six months of this year. Even this supply was coming in "poorly."

"I have scarcely anything on hand now," he said. "There are a few large sizes from 17 to 19. The supply has been bad for a year now. We can't be sure of shipments and some weeks get nothing at all."

Allowing a 25-cent increase in sale price of shirts, he said, would not make any difference unless the manufacturers had been holding back their output.

He pointed out that the bottleneck was in the textile industry with insufficient supplies of materials to meet manufacturers' needs.

As for suits a department store manager said the present supply was about the same as that for the last year. He pointed out that increased supply had been promised by fall but doubted that many more would appear this year.

He said the store had a few in all sizes reserved for "former servicemen. They ranged in price from $29.50 to $49.50. Those for civilians were of the two variety ranging from $29.50 to $35.

Manager of the suit department store said that deliveries had been poor for three years and showed no signs of improvement.

"Outlook on our suit supply this spring," he said, "is not any better than that of last spring."

A supply of double-breasted suits received last week-end is now almost exhausted. He said the demand was up for double-breasted suits compared to that of prewar days, giving the reason as the fact that they were harder to obtain than the single-breasted style.

Tribute Paid To A. T. Goward On Retirement

Executive officials and representatives of all sections of the Vancouver Island Division of the B.C. Electric Railway Company today paid tribute to A. T. Goward at a ceremony in his home on York Place which marked his 74th birthday and the official retirement from his post as vice-president of the company.

On behalf of the Island employees W. G. Murrin, Vancouver, president of the company, presented to Mr. Goward a combination radio and gramophone with two recordings of tributes to Mr. Goward from executives of the company. To Mrs. Goward, W. C. Mainwaring, Vancouver Island chairman of the Victoria committee to assist the international drive to provide food for the relief of European nations, is being made by the Victoria committee for the co-ordinating of overseas relief.

The appeal of the committee is aimed particularly at garden homeowners of Victoria, who, since the war, may have decided to turn wartime vegetable gardens into flowers and shrubs.

Miss Ellen Hart, temporary chairman of the Victoria committee, says by maintaining vegetable cultivation in their gardens Victorians are urged by the committee to supply their own needs, thereby eliminating the demands on commercial producers whose goods may be used for overseas export.

It is realized that some householders for various reasons, will not be able to cultivate their own ground. On the other hand, there are persons living in rooms and apartments who would be glad to plant a garden. Others might like to assist hard-pressed gardeners at the busy seasons. By co-operation, it may be possible to work out a mutually satisfactory arrangement between these different groups. Persons interested in such a scheme should telephone B 1117, local 18.

Those attending the ceremony as official representatives for the occasion were: Mr. Murrin, Mr. Mainwaring, Mr. Horsey, Mr. Mathews, E. Harrison, M. C. True-

N.W. Highway To Be Opened in Stages To Tourist Travel

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP) — The Alaska Highway will "for the present" continue to be operated by the Canadian Army as a military road, but will be opened up for civilian traffic as soon as possible, Gen. McNaughton, newly-appointed Canadian representative on the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission, said here Wednesday.

Addressing a ceremony commemorating the turning over of the Northwest Highway System, as the Canadian section of the road now is called, was still a gravel road through country largely undeveloped and not equipped to look after the wants of tourists.

He said it was hoped "considerable progress" would be made during the next year toward providing facilities such as hotels, gasoline stations and eating places needed before the road can be used by tourists.

It was the policy of the Canadian government to open up the highway progressively to civilian traffic as soon as these facilities were available.

Gen. McNaughton said the highway was a tribute to "the skill and competence of the United States Army" as well as one of the many instances of co-operation between "Canada and the United States."

However, the most important joint defence project in northern Canada had been the Northwest Staging Route stretching from Edmonton to Alaska. These airfields had played a most effective role during the war and their value to civil aviation in the future would be great.

Murder Climaxes Movie Studio Party

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A real-life slaying today climaxed a party celebrating conclusion of a gangster movie.

Police found Edward W. Gray, 31, a studio electrician, dying beneath a film set backdrop. Police said Gray, who succumbed in a hospital, was murdered. Hospital attendants said his skull was fractured, his jaw broken and his palate pierced.

The cast and crew of "Angel On My Shoulder" had joined in a party on the general service lot. Paul Muni, star of the gangster movie, was host. Others attending included Anne Baxter, the leading lady, and supporting players Kurt Kreuger and Joan Blair, studio sources said but all had departed by 10 p.m., several hours before the body was discovered.

Cancer Society To Teach Fear Must Be Overcome

Col. J. Q. Gillan was chosen president of the Canadian Cancer Society's Victoria branch at a meeting in City Hall council chamber, Wednesday evening.

Other officers chosen were Dr. J. D. Hunter, G. H. Stevens, Dr. J. L. M. Anderson, vice-presidents; Mrs. J. Bridges, secretary; Mrs. Blair Reid, treasurer; W. C. Mainwaring, Ald. E. Williams, Dr. R. G. D. McNeely, G. A. A. Hebdon, Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, Miss J. M. Clay, Mrs. S. T. Sehl, directors.

Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial health officer, told the meeting that B.C. cancer figures showed the disease affected persons in all age groups. It was the fourth leading cause of death in children between four and nine and the third leading cause in persons between 20 and 29 years of age. For those between 40 and 49 it was the prime cause of death.

"Fear over the unknown," he said, "is good if it promotes action. Those who merely worry and do nothing are wasting time and if they have cancer are merely producing the results of which they are afraid. Doctors are the persons who should do their worrying for them."

Dr. Amyot said the first duty of the Canadian Cancer Society was to eliminate fear of the disease, replacing it with information which would lead to a cure. He pointed out that the Cancer Society would be a strong organization in the community in stressing the facilities available for treatment. Persons fearing cancer, he said, should realize first-class operating facilities, deep X-ray therapy and radium were all available in Victoria.

One of the objects of the society's drive this month would be to get enough Victorians interested "to form an army to back up the treatment of cancer." The Victoria society would be the advance post of that army.

MEDICAL SOCIETY CO-OPERATING

"The B.C. Medical Association," he said, "is giving their full co-operation in stimulating reporting of cases to the provincial board of health. During the last year there has been an increase of over 62 per cent in reporting. In 1944 there were about 1,200 cases reported. In 1945 there were nearly 2,000. Part of the increase is due to improved diagnostic facilities as well as increased reporting."

He stressed that with present knowledge and the facilities available now for treatment a tremendous decrease could be made in the death rate. People must be aware of the importance of seeking competent medical advice when any of the symptoms of cancer were apparent. "The society," he said, "has an important part to play in the improvement of the health of the people of this province. It will be making full use of all funds collected for cancer control within the province."

Mrs. S. A. Conrad of the society's provincial branch in Vancouver said everyone who contributed $1 in the April drive would become a member of their local branch. Funds granted to the provincial branch would be used in cancer research in B.C.

J. B. Leyland, provincial campaign chairman, said B.C.'s objective would be $500,000. Of this the city of Vancouver had agreed to raise $300,000. He suggested that Victoria raise $50,000 or 10 per cent of the objective.

"Choose to Live," was the title of the film shown by Dr. Amyot. It dealt with diagnosis and treatment, stressing that everyone was a possible victim of cancer. Dr. R. Felton presided.

Many Still Press For Daylight Saving

Two more petitions favoring the establishment of daylight saving time during the summer months have been received by Mayor Percy George, one from 148 employees of the New Method Laundries, and one from employees at Hickman-Tye Hardware Company.

Mayor George indicated that he will continue to press for provincial action on the matter but that he is still opposed to having Victoria go on fast time if none of the other communities do.

Germany's West Front Thinly Held While Poland Invaded, Crushed

NUERNBERG (AP) — Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel testified before the International Military Tribunal here today that only 20 divisions, including reserves, guarded western Germany during the blitzkrieg in Poland and "a French attack would have met with no German defence."

"We, as soldiers, were very much surprised that nothing took place except skirmishes between the Maginot Line and the West Wall," he said. "Our 20 divisions, including reserves, stretched from Holland to Switzerland. Since an attack did not occur, we believed a peaceful solution was possible in the campaign in the west during the winter."

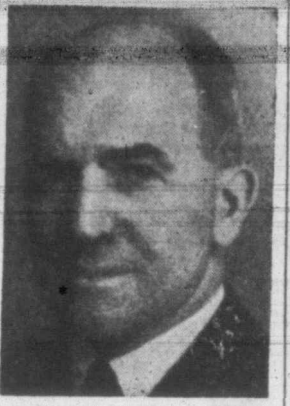

Keitel, on the witness stand in his own defence, said both Allied and Axis secrets leaked out "through the close connections of the Belgian and Italian royal houses." This, he said, was a many's pledged word, Keitel said.

When Hitler began threatening Poland, he continued, high army officers clung to the belief that the "Czech problem" had been solved without firing a shot and perhaps other problems in the east could be solved that way.

"We wanted no Polish war because we recognized we were not ready," Keitel said. "We generals believed we did not have the means to wage war against both Poland and the western powers."

Halifax Rioter Given Amnesty

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Department officials confirmed Wednesday that Keith Johnston of Saskatoon had been released from prison March 14 on ticket of leave.

Johnston, a member of the Royal Canadian Navy, was sentenced to five years when convicted of taking $25 worth of cigarettes from a looted Halifax store during the V-E Day riots there last May 8.

No general amnesty had been granted others convicted on similar charges, officials said, but each case was considered individually.

Naval service headquarters said no charges had been laid against Johnston on his return to the navy and he now was being demobilized and would be given normal discharge.

Propose Shelving Agrolonists' Bill

While certain amount of opposition to the proposed Agrolonists' Act has come from farmers, it was recommended for shelving Wednesday by legislative standing committee on agriculture, because members believed farmers and others should have more opportunity to consider it and submit their views.

L. Le Borden, chairman of the committee, said. The bill would make a recognized profession of agrolonists and would limit to qualified members of the agrolonists' organization the right to act in a technical advisory capacity in connection with farming, with some exceptions.

Views Differ on Auto Insurance Act Enforced in Saskatchewan

By Canadian Press

Recent adoption of a bill instituting compulsory automobile insurance in Saskatchewan government brings varied, though cautious, comment from provincial government and automobile association officials across Canada.

Reaction of the man-in-the-street — pedestrian and motorist — similarly touched at both ends of the scale, a Canadian Press survey shows.

The C.C.F. government act protects every motorist and pedestrian against personal injury to a maximum of $5,000. It became law despite a provincial Liberal Party charge that the bill was "the greatest hoax ever perpetrated on people of any province under the guise of insurance."

Motor league officials, on the other hand, carefully steering clear of the political aspects and controversies of the act, agree compulsory accident insurance for motorists is desirable. Some agree, however, with Frank Bird of the British Columbia Automobile Association, who said such insurance "should not be controlled by the government."

Alberta Motor League officials were not in favor of the government-sponsored insurance plan and suggested in its stead the Alberta system, where the Motor Vehicle Act of the province provides that motorists involved in accident where the damage exceeds $25, automatically are required to obtain liability insurance before their licenses are renewed.

Opposition to the Saskatchewan bill came from various insurance companies which contended motorists should be allowed free choice in placing their accident insurance. The head of a large Ontario insurance firm said, that instead of government insurance, the law should provide for refusal of license to any driver who is not fully covered by insurance.

He added that the governments should intercede to assure accident protection be made available at a "fairly low cost."

The Saskatchewan act provides for payment of an extra $5 on vehicle license and an extra $1 on driver's license to cover the cost of the insurance. Objection was raised by the Saskatchewan Motor Transport Association, which asked exemption of one year for the trucking industry. The truckers objected primarily to the rates, since the scale increases for taxis, trucks and public vehicles.

A weakness in the legislation, according to some, is its lack of coverage in accidents causing property damage — "which accounts for the biggest proportion of the total."

"Also, good motorists must pay the costs of dangerous driving as well as the bad ones through a

Conference Told World Food Crisis Delayed By Canada's Big Exports

LONDON (CP) — Philip Noel Baker, British Minister of State, and chairman of the British delegation to the food conference now under way here, announced today that Herbert Hoover, now investigating European famine threats for President Truman, was expected here today.

On Mr. Noel-Baker's suggestion, the conference unanimously agreed to invite the former United States President to speak to the conference tomorrow.

George H. McIvor, chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, told today's session that Canada in three years had exported sufficient wheat and wheat flour to provide a "normal" bread ration for 250,000,000 people for an entire year. The international food crisis would have overtaken the world much sooner but for Canada's effort, he added.

At today's session, a speech by Fiorello LaGuardia, recently appointed director-general of the United Nations' Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, read in his absence, said:

"I intend to press supplying countries even harder than before for their fullest assistance. I intend to press, too, that receiving countries shall do more than they are doing to ensure that the food available to them shall be husbanded with the greatest of care."

"As a fundamental step, receiving countries must stamp out black markets. The supplying countries are not giving generously of their food and their goods to benefit private profiteers."

A Turkish spokesman reported that last year's poor harvest would leave Turkey with hardly enough stocks to tide her over till the next harvest.

R. A. Furness, chairman of the requirements sub-committee of the cereals committee of the combined food board, declared farmers should be "compelled" to release much more of their wheat than they are doing today, to help the city populations.

"There is no doubt that some of the local retentions are far too high, and urban populations are suffering because farmers will not give up their wheat," he stated.

Census of 22 Countries Scheduled For 1950

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Halbert L. Dunn, secretary-general of the Inter-American Statistical Institute, announced Wednesday a simultaneous census of the 22 countries in the western hemisphere has been set for 1950. Mr. Dunn, who also heads the United States Census Bureau's vital statistics division, called it the "greatest census project in history."

EXPLOSION AVOIDED

FROM EARLY REPORTS OF TODAY'S Security Council business, it appeared that all-important body had escaped the dangerous explosion latent in a full-dress discussion of the Iranian issue. All the questions which have been raised by the matter have not been answered, but the head-on collision between rival ideologies that might have occurred has been avoided. Compromise has prevailed and the Council, still in its infancy, is given promise of sturdier growth as the result.

Moreover, the proposal of United States Secretary of State Byrnes that the case be suspended by accepting Russia's assurance that her troops will be off Iranian soil early next month must be taken as evidence of the good faith placed in the U.S.S.R.'s pledge to that effect—a pledge made the more acceptable by the omission from it of that reservation previously announced by the Soviets that withdrawal would be completed unless "unforeseen circumstances" arose. The Iranian government apparently acquiesces in that assurance.

The course suggested by Mr. Byrnes does not constitute an abandonment of the cause advanced by Iran's delegate, Ambassador Hussein Ala. Should significant developments occur before the troop evacuation is completed, the question will be put on the agenda again and given top priority. However, since the Persian representatives have announced acceptance of the Russian statement as an unconditional guarantee of troop movements out of the country, the issue, at least temporarily, yields pre-eminence of place on the Council's agenda.

For the sake of future accord, the peace-loving nations will hope the Iranian position has been reached through amicable settlement and not through coercion. They may find encouragement for that hope in the statement from Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian Propaganda Minister, that the evacuation question has not been involved in the negotiations now under way between his people and the Soviet government to settle other outstanding issues. That is a point which should be kept in mind as parties campaign in the early Iranian elections predicted in a dispatch from Tehran today.

The last has not been heard of the conflict of interests represented on the Persian stage. But there is some ground for optimism in the submission made to the Security Council today. Into it may be read a recognition of the fact that the ideology of Russia and that of the western democracies can both exist in the world without resulting in another global armed conflict. The paramount objective of the United Nations is still peace.

SOCIAL WELFARE

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR A NATIONAL program of social security have been placed before Prime Minister Mackenzie King by the Canadian Welfare Council. These embrace a plan for contributory old age security; work training to complement unemployed insurance benefits; extension of the National Housing Act into low-rental projects; and abolition of "residence rules" for social service benefits. These recommendations will no doubt in due course be laid before the Dominion-Provincial Conference as the relative responsibility of the Dominion or provincial governments for social welfare services depends almost entirely on the financial arrangements finally to be established at that conference.

Provincial Secretary George S. Pearson has already allocated approximately $4,329,380 for buildings for social welfare purposes in British Columbia. This expenditure would predate the more comprehensive series of social welfare and security plans suggested in the Marsh report and similar studies, all of which are dependent on a redistribution of financial powers and responsibilities as between the Dominion and the provinces.

Meanwhile, however, the Canadian Welfare Council has been studying conditions as they apply to Canada as a whole. The necessity of establishing a social service structure which is integrated and not in "bits and pieces" scattered all over the nine provinces is patent in the present recommendations.

WHEAT SHORTAGE

ACCORDING TO MR. GEORGE H. McIvor, chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, the world wheat supply for the period January to June of this year shows a deficit of approximately 250,000,000 bushels. This is largely due to drought in the Argentine, India and Australia which cut off exports and necessitated imports, and thus has eaten into the normal reserves of Canada and the United States. While it is hoped that Canadian and United States crops will fill up the deficit in the fall, to do so they will have to put in not only a record acreage but pray that that acreage will produce about seven bushels more to the acre than the average.

But the next three months are virtually famine months the world over, except in the great producing areas of America. As Sir John Boyd Orr, director general of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization points out, even when the present extreme crisis has passed there will still be many millions of human beings suffering from malnutrition, hunger and famine. What perhaps is difficult to realize is that there are always, in India and China, with their vast populations and comparatively unfertile because exhausted soils, millions of human beings always on the verge of starvation. Not to be continuously hungry is with most of these people an extraordinary exception.

So that whatever means are adopted in Canada to meet the present crisis the danger of an unmarketable surplus, due to production being stepped up to a much higher level, ultimately leading to a drop in prices, should not be a material consideration. Within the next year the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization should be able to determine a better distribution of food surpluses, so that gradually instead of "many millions of human beings suffering from malnutrition, hunger and famine" their standard of living can at least be raised above starvation level. Through the operations of the Bretton Woods agreements and the International Bank this bogey of over-production of foodstuffs in some countries and malnutrition in others can be solved not by charity but by common sense.

RUSSIAN RAILWAYS

RAILWAY TRANSPORTATION IN Russia is a problem vital to both its political and economic objectives of security. During the '20's and early '30's the U.S.S.R. built a considerable mileage of railways to satisfy a demand for transportation for the mere sake of transportation. But the threat of war led to the adoption of strategically linked centres of production through trunk lines, by means of which both man-power and machinery could be transferred from vulnerable areas, such as Moscow, Leningrad and Odessa, to safety zones far to the east. It was this change in plan that the Germans had not sufficiently assessed. They believed that once they were east of a line drawn from Archangel to the Black Sea, the whole Russian strategy of retreat would become impractical.

The new five-year plan sticks to the conception of trunk lines as of primary importance. Russia is a country of vast resources which are widely scattered. Political policies are closely linked to these economic resources and are planned in accordance with the geographical location of the resources and not of the population. The latter can always be moved but the primary development of resources such as mines, water-power, and forests must take place where these exist. So that trunk lines are being built not to link the scattered populations of vast agricultural regions, but to sew together the widely separated natural resources. Whether these trunk lines will be fed later on by road or subsidiary rail lines is a secondary consideration at the moment.

It is possible that Russia is more concerned with obtaining a railway concession from Iran to give her an exit to the Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean, than she is with oil. Her real interest in Manchuria is based on the railway to the port of Dairen. These railways and ports are a necessary complement to the great trunk lines across the continent. None of them can run northwards to the great ice barriers. They must point south both in the east and west. Their political and economic security depends on a close political affiliation with the Soviet system. They are part and parcel of a policy of self-sufficiency.

But such trunk lines would be vulnerable to bombing from the air and therefore any opponent, especially one in possession of sea power, must be thrust back as far as possible from these backbones of the Russian transportation system. Russia's conception of security is to rely on her own political and economic resources. She plans to have a large navy which, strategically, would be designed to prevent approach to her sea ports. She is willing to work with the United Nations for world peace but is also intent on keeping her own security as the primary objective.

CONSTRUCTIVE ADVERTISING

IN A SOAP-OPERA AGE, WHEN impassioned radio voices dramatize the alleged merits of a sponsor's products and the sophisticated pseudo-science of tobacco, firm laboratories finds expression in smoothly purged sales inducements, it is refreshing to come across a distinctive advertising medium which does something more than make grandiloquent claims for specific merchandise. In the latter category is a publication from a firm of national prominence which dates its founding to 1883. The company has issued a pamphlet, admirably illustrated, on the maple leaf, Canada's emblem.

It is an artistic compilation carrying factual matter on the 17 varieties of maple commonly found in the Dominion. In addition to pictures of the leaves and trunks, as well as a short description of the tree itself, there are thumbnail references to the historical importance of many varieties. The brochure, according to its sponsors, has met with widespread approval by the general public and educational authorities and has been widely distributed throughout schools.

Here is an effort by a Canadian firm to extend among Canadians knowledge of things Canadian. The presence in the booklet of material advertising the firm detracts in no way from its attractiveness. This is a welcome relief from the saccharine absurdities which frequently drip from the radio publicity tap.

Truman's First Year

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON: THIS MONTH President Truman will complete the first year of his Presidency. It was April 12 last year that President Roosevelt died. At this milestone there will be many reviews, seeking to arrive at judgments about the Administration's course. A simple judgment, but the most important, will be that of common men, voters. This will have a direct and immediate consequence.

For it happens that the end of Mr. Truman's first year coincides with the beginning of primaries for the Congressional elections next November. In these primaries and in the November election, the voters will determine whether the President's party is to continue to have a majority in Congress. What the voters do will be based upon their feelings about the record of the Truman Administration. They will express their feelings on one broad question: Has the country, since the end of the war, been brought to a satisfactory peace-time level of business? To most voters the question will be simply, has the country returned to normal conditions?

While the voters will answer this as one question, it has three parts, closely interrelated yet separable. These bear on the record of the Administration in three fields: (1) The speed of reconversion of business to a peace-time basis; (2) treatment of the labor-management problem; (3) the fight against inflation.

About reconversion of business, Mr. Truman's Administration inherited a well-planned program and blueprint. It had been laid out, with characteristic foresight, by Bernard M. Baruch and his associate, John Hancock. It was an efficient fast-working mechanism for settling war contracts, so that manufacturers could convert their plants to peace-time production. This plan the Truman administration followed. Reconversion has been well done, and more quickly than had been anticipated.

BUT AS TO LABOR the Administration had no plan. During the war the government, through the War Labor Board, had settled wage disputes by what amounted to compulsory arbitration. This the Truman administration terminated, announcing that the W.L.B. would go out of existence.

About prices of goods, however, the Administration followed a contrary course. It kept its wartime control over prices—doing this in order to prevent inflationary increases in prices and cost of living. Quickly the difference in policy, one about prices and a different one about wages, led to difficulty.

Labor made demands upon employers for much higher wages. Then, when employers said they could not grant the demands without increasing the prices of the goods they make, the Administration resisted. It did not resist the wage demands, it encouraged them; it resisted higher prices. The Administration was in the position of saying, indeed said openly, that there could be wage rises without price increases. That position took the Administration into difficulties. It had to retreat.

PRESENTLY the Administration, unwilling to resist wage increases, indeed actually encouraging them, decreed price increases to compensate for them. The outstanding example was steel. President Truman said the C.I.O. union of steelworkers should have a wage rise of 18½ cents an hour; and then, in order to make the wage rise possible, decreed an increase of $5 a ton in the price of steel.

That brings us to the third of the tests by which Mr. Truman's Administration will be judged by voters, the fight against inflation. The action about steel, and similar actions in other fields, are a direct upward step in the inflation spiral. The step puts detriment upon large groups of people. All consumers are obliged to pay more for what they buy. An immense group—the savers who have put money into war bonds, savings banks, life-insurance policies, and similar securities—find the purchasing power of their savings reduced, the income they receive from their savings less able to buy what they need for their living.

IF NEXT November's Congressional elections were held today, and if the voters were basing their decisions on the record of the Truman Administration, as they will be, many would vote disapproval because of the increase in cost of living that has taken place.

Again, as of today, the judgment of many voters about the labor situation would be similarly adverse to the Administration. They have seen strikes that brought extreme and unprecedented inconvenience and detriment to the public; strikes that interrupted public service, such as the telephone; strikes that actually interrupted government functions, such as schools. They have seen this without preventive action on the part of the Administration.

Will these conditions, forming the basis of judgment by many voters, change by November? As respects inflation, rise in prices of goods and cost of living, relief can hardly be expected. Increases in prices continue to take place, many are officially decreed by the Office of Price Administration.

AS RESPECTS labor, conditions may be more stable during the months until November. But, so far, no step has been taken to solve the labor problem.

The chief cause of divorce is no mystery. People once congenial can get along unless they are rude and ill-bred and ignorant of good manners.

Letters To The Editor

PENSIONS VS. INDEMNITIES

Once more we hear the cry, "Raise Our Sessional Indemnities." This time it comes from our provincial legislators, following the example of the Dominion members of Parliament.

Among the many speeches reported from the present session of the B.C. House very little appears to have been said on behalf of our aged citizens in receipt of the $30 a month pension. The argument may be raised that old age pensions are a Dominion responsibility, and so they are but only partly so. Some years ago this province saw fit to give these old people a cost of living bonus when it was refused by the Dominion government. That action created a precedent.

I would suggest to our legislators that instead of raising their own sessional indemnities to $3,000 (thereby involving a yearly expenditure of nearly $50,000) they should vote this amount toward improving housing conditions for our old age pensioners. Such an action would surely meet with approval from the electorate. I very much doubt if such approval will be given to spending public funds to increase sessional indemnities to an amount which is nearly 10 times that of the old age pension.

SHOWER OF DIMES

The annual "April Shower of Dimes," sponsored by the Solarium Junior League, Victoria, B.C., is again taking place throughout the month of April, in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children at Malahat Beach, Vancouver Island.

The Solarium is continuing its humanitarian efforts in the interest of the handicapped child—offering its services and producing results in treatment which have meant an adaptation of the patient to a better way of life and an opportunity to become self-reliant rather than a burden to his family or to the government. The understanding public of the province of British Columbia have generously come forward each year to lend the financial support which must approximate 50 per cent of the annual operating costs of the hospital—$50,000 annually must be depended upon in voluntary subscriptions.

Improvement in buildings and equipment are also now being considered, and if the Solarium is to carry on in its role as a leading institution for this type of work we must look forward again this year to the warm response which has been forthcoming in the past.

Your "Shower of Dimes" will start a crippled child on the road to health—may he look for your help? Just mail your contribution to the Solarium Junior League, Victoria, B.C., and together we'll see that it's done.

(Miss) PEGGY WHARTON, Convener "April Shower of Dimes" Committee, Solarium Junior League.

Even though I have been absent from my native city for quite some time now, I still follow with keen interest the letters to the editor through the medium of your paper, which I receive through the mail.

The great controversies over the Gordon Head airport have appalled me sometimes and amused me others. Mr. G. M. Lyles' letter which appeared March 18, was very amusing; Mr. G. F. Gregory's letter, which appeared in your Thursday's issue, takes the cake. The views expressed are beyond all reason.

Does Mr. Gregory want us to go back to the habits and customs of our ancestors, by removing all the essential services which he terms as "priority targets for air attack"? If we all lacked faith as these two men appear to do, no security council, however great, would ever succeed.

In closing, I have wishes to come day finally settle in Victoria, for there is no other place in my mind that can surpass it in climate and quiet beauty, but if Mr. Gregory's suggestions were carried out, "how would I get home?"

(Good luck to the Gordon Head airport.)

Results of many years' medical research prove conclusively that ultra-violet rays, invisible to the human eye, cause sunburn, kill bacteria, induce Vitamin D, strengthen bones and teeth, and help the body to combat various ailments.

Because ultra-violet rays stimulate circulation and induce Vitamin D production in the blood, they not only act as an aid in preventing rickets, but in many instances bring about definite cure. Your Sun Kraft Cold Quartz, Ultra-violet Ray Lamp is modern science's latest important achievement in the field of ultra-violet ray generating device.

King's Daughters' 36th Daffodil Tea

The home of Mrs. Edwin Tomlin, 1930 Woodley Road, was an ideal setting for the 36th annual daffodil tea, sponsored by the King's Daughters, Wednesday afternoon.

From 2.30, when Mrs. P. E. George declared the tea officially open, until 5.30, a steady stream of visitors were greeted by the president, Mrs. T. D. Roberts, assisted by Mrs. Tomlin.

The spacious rooms were bright with huge vases of forsythia, daffodils and spring blossoms. In the dining-room, afternoon tea was served from a table centred with an artistic bouquet of wild Easter lilies and peacocks. Presiding at the urns were Mesdames Bertha Parsons, Walter Walker, A. M. Perry and Miss Kathleen Agnew. Assisting in serving were: Mesdames W. Bremner, Audrey Welburn, Dorothy McManis, J. W. Cameron, F. C. Elliott, Miss S. Thorburn and Miss Ivy Burwood.

A grocery basket, filled with surprises, was in charge of Mrs. Cliff Robbins; gift table, Miss Pat Kingsberry, Miss Ethel Hunter, Mrs. H. Fortingale and Mrs. H. Cliff; door tickets, Mrs. H. D. Brumpton and Mrs. Peter Sharp; cut flowers, Mrs. R. Forster and Mrs. R. E. Ford.

During the afternoon Mrs. Roberts expressed the thanks of the King's Daughters to Mrs. Tomlin for her kindness in offering her home for the tea. Corsette bouquets, fashioned by Mrs. Myrna Wilson, were presented to Mrs. George, Mrs. Tomlin and other ladies who assisted in making the afternoon a success. A sum of $100 was cleared.

What's New Around the Home

Rayons to Wash?—With a little care, washable rayon spring and summer dresses can be ironed to look as fresh as new. In general, rayon sharkskin, jersey and crepe should be ironed with a warm iron, while all the spun rayon family of fabrics need a hotter iron. Rayons should always be ironed on the wrong side to preserve surface texture. "Professional" looking results are obtained if you iron shoulders with the help of a tailor's cushion. Iron into but never across gathers. If a dress has pleats, iron the hem and the whole skirt on the wrong side. Then put in the pleats on the right side with a press cloth over the fabric.

Spring Cleaning—Woodwork, even when kept well dusted, is apt to acquire a greasy film in winter, especially with some of the fuels that have been used this season. A warm-water wash, little baking soda in the water and fine mild soap will remove such film, but may leave the paint or enamel a bit dull. The cure: Polish with a light application of high-grade wax.

Boast-a-bit Belt—For the lass who's just a touch vain about her hand-span middle: a crisp new tape measure stitched to a plain black belt, right end turned under at the lucky number.

With Beige and Gray—The true reds are perfect. For the note of contrast, explore, also, the new reds with a blue, pink or gold undertone. They do something pretty special for you.

New Notions—It's new and a neat note to transform your kitty table into a blouse closet. Just Let's Eat!

Quick Trick—To slice rolled-up dough for icebox cookies or buns place a clean string about 12 inches long under roll at spot to be cut. Cross over dough and pull until string cuts through. Keeps slice round.

Lenten Menus—For variety with baked fish try bacon, parsley or lemon flavors, with knowing touches of herbs or spices in the stuffing. Lemon and water-cress take their turn as garnishes with tomato and cucumber or parsley and pimiento. Don't forget to protect the pan with cooking parchment.

More About Flavors—Delicate cream and custard mixtures take on new character with a change or blend of flavoring extracts, a few shreds of orange or lemon rind, a little syrup from maraschino cherries, a touch of mace or nutmeg, the thrill of maple or fine coffee.

Hostess' Idea—Should you be looking for something different for that new relish tray, add little gherkins, split halfway down, with a salted nut gone to bed inside. Chopped salted almonds in chicken salad may give you an idea, too.

Left-over Cake—When cake "hangs on" transform it into apple sauce pudding. Fill a deep glass pie dish with apple sauce or pureed fruit. Cover with strips of cake and sprinkle with a mixture of cinnamon and

Jubilee W.A. Presents Cheque

Mrs. W. J. V. Church, president of the W.A. to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, is shown presenting G. H. Stevens, president of the board of the hospital, with a cheque for $8,500.

The presentation was made by Mrs. Church on behalf of the members of the auxiliary at a special meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the Nurses' Home, and represents the work of the auxiliary for a number of years. The money will be used in furnishing the new maternity wing.

sugar. Place in a hot oven or under the broiler until the cake is toasted. Serve warm with cream or soft custard.

Neat Note—Shake pieces of veal for browning and stewing in paper bag containing flour, a little dry mustard and poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Prevents spillage, assures coverage.

Dessert Topping—Make an ordinary dessert a festive affair with foamy fruit sauce. Beat the egg white until quite stiff, but not dry. Gradually beat in two tablespoons of sugar, until the mixture will hold a peak. Then fold in 1/2 cup of mashed fresh or canned fruit mixed with 1/2 tablespoon lemon juice. Chill and serve. Use bananas as the fruit when serving with warm gingerbread, chocolate blanc mange or fruit salads. Six servings.

P.T.A. News

Ward Six—A sum of $55 was cleared at the 500 party sponsored by Ward Six P.T.A. in aid of the school sweater fund.

A donation was made to the Red Cross.

MOTHER IS DAUGHTER'S RIVAL

Dear Miss Dix: I am an ex-serviceman with three years of overseas duty. I am 22 years old and am going with a girl whose mother is a widow. Both the girl and the mother are very pretty and attractive. The mother has fallen in love with me and will not let me call on her daughter unless I bring the girl home early and then take her out to some place of amusement.

This puts me in a very embarrassing position as I am in love with the girl, but the mother refuses to let me marry her. What should I do?

TRUE LOVE AND SUG.

Answer: Well True Love and Sug, I'll say you are in a hot spot. Believe me, you are in more danger than you ever were on the battlefield, and it will take so much strategy and finesse for you to escape safely from your perilous position that I am tempted to advise you to go A.W.O.L.

flcult because of one of the ladies being your prospective mother-in-law. How to let her down easily and gracefully and make her see that you prefer a wife in your own age class is going to be a problem that it will take a diplomat to solve.

Yet apparently the only alternative is for you to emigrate to some country where a man can have an elderly wife and younger ones. But of course, one wife is expensive and two are practically bankruptcy, and you may not have the price.

But I tremble to think what a jilted mother-in-law would be like in the family circle. So you had better think over my suggestion about going A.W.O.L.

Adventures in Space: The Story of Radar.

Era," Etc.

(1) You don't have to be more than middle-aged to remember the scene which the artist has sketched here—an awed family in the early 1920's gathered about a crude "wireless telephone" set with its horn loud-speaker. The age of the family radio and voice and music programs, began when an American scientist Lee DeForest, invented the radio tube in 1907. This tube made it possible to shorten electro-magnetic waves to a point where they could carry human conversation. Thus started the first transmission of messages over the wireless telephone, though electrical conditions in the atmosphere produced static disturbances that interfered with pure reception.

(2) To get rid of static and to send the voice more clearly over greater distances, science made many improvements in radio tubes. With the new tubes it was found that radio waves could be made shorter and shorter. And the shorter the waves, the more power they packed. These new tubes made possible not only better transmission, because they could penetrate storms with less disturbance, but they also made possible many new devices such as artificial fever machines, television, and radio beacons and navigation instruments for aviators.

(3) Two great pioneers of radio, Hertz and Marconi, had suggested that electromagnetic waves could be reflected back from objects. One of the most notable applications of this was the aviator's terrain clearance meter or absolute altimeter. Aviators had determined the heights of their planes above ground by barometric pressure, but this was not always reliable. By sending radio waves to the ground or towards mountains, which might prove disastrous obstacles, they received back reflected beams. The time taken for these beams to return to their planes, divided by the speed they traveled, gave them the exact distances from these objects.

(4) While these developments were taking place, aviation was making rapid strides. Airplanes were taking on more speed and were becoming deadly and dreaded weapons of war. With these advances, devices of defence in air warfare were being developed. One was a means of detecting the approach of an enemy plane by means of sound receiving on amplification devices. These were useful, however, only so long as planes traveled as slowly as sound. Soon airplanes surpassed sound in speed and the sound detection devices became useless.

Contact Lenses Introduced Here; R.N. Sailor Discards Heavy Glasses

Difference between the patient's heavy glasses and his new vision aids is shown here. The former used to fog up from sea spray.

Built-in glasses or as the optometrists call them, contact lenses, are now being fitted for Victorians by Robert Taylor. He returned recently from Beverly Hills, Calif., where he studied advanced work in these invisible aids to vision.

Because of their high cost, $175 a pair, and slight inconveniences to be overcome in wearing them, Mr. Taylor recommends contact lenses only in certain cases. These include to persons whose eyes need a high correction requiring thick glasses. Workers whose eyes may be subjected to danger, seamen bothered by spray and athletes with faulty eyes are others for whom he recommends them.

IDEAL CASE

"The ideal case," he said today, "is that of a person whose eye has been injured leaving small bumps on it or defects which cannot be cured."

Mr. Taylor explained that before insertion in the eye the lenses are filled with a water solution. This liquid acts as a cushion between the eyeball and lens. It also serves to correct vision by filling in irregularities in the surface of the cornea.

One of the first persons to be fitted with contact lenses was Ldg. Writer Alan Golden of the Royal Navy. His ordinary horn-rimmed glasses used to fog up with sea spray. When he leaves for England soon aboard H.M.S. Cape Wrath he will take the invisible glasses and several bottles of the solution. Using Ldg. Writer Golden as an example Mr. Taylor demonstrated how he went about fitting the invisible lenses.

EYES ARE NUMBED

Drops of pontocain were inserted to numb the patient's eyes. Next step was making a jelly from distilled water and moulding powder which he applied to the eyes with a casting shell.

After two and one-half minutes the hardened jelly was removed and placed in a fixing solution. From the impression positive casts of the eyes were made with alabaster.

Mr. Taylor explained these positive casts were sent to the Toronto laboratory where plexiglass is moulded over them to the shape of the patient's eye. Accompanying the casts would go data concerning corrections to be added to the lenses. These corrections were estimated here after the patient tried several trial lenses to tell the power needed for his eyes.

NEED SPECIAL TOOLS

High cost of the vision aids was explained by the fact that separate tools were needed to grind in each individual lens. Small adjustments could be made by the optometrist here when the glasses were returned from Toronto.

Mr. Taylor predicted that a fortune was in store for the man who invented the best solution to accompany contact lenses.

"The better the solution," he said, "the more tolerable the lenses become. At present they can be worn from four to eight hours a day."

Lenses, he said, must be removed every few hours to change the solution. After a number of hours it sometimes clouds up through being absorbed by the cornea.

Serious Injuries Hit Major Baseball Clubs

NEW YORK (AP)—An unprecedented series of mishaps has left major league baseball managers virtually in the dark on their probable lineups for opening day, 12 days hence, an Associated Press survey showed today.

There isn't a major league team which hasn't had at least a dozen casualties thus far, and some are of a serious nature.

Joe Gordon, star second baseman of New York Yankees, suffered a spike wound to his left hand several weeks ago which probably will keep him out of the lineup for another month.

Walter (Hot) Evers, rookie centerfielder of Detroit Tigers, broke an ankle and a thumb in a game March 17, and is out of the picture for at least two more months.

Last Tuesday, Mickey Rocco, Cleveland Indians' regular first baseman, broke a bone in his right foot and will be out for several weeks.

Mike Sandlock, expected to bear the brunt of Brooklyn's catching with Mickey Owen off to the Mexican League, suffered a fractured finger yesterday.

Following is a list of players currently out of action due to injuries:

Brooklyn—Pete Reiser, separation of the breast bone and collarbone; Billy Herman, sacroiliac condition; Augie Galan, pulled muscle in left arm; Cookie Lavette, fractured bone in right wrist and calcium deposit in right elbow; Sandlock, broken finger.

New York Giants—Bill Rigney, sprained ankle; Harry Feldman, bruised right leg; Mickey Witke, torn finger nail and swollen knee. St. Louis Cardinals—Ken O'Dea, sacroiliac condition; Johnny Beazley, sore arm; Terry Moore, pulled leg muscle.

Philadelphia Phillies—Frank McCormick, lame back.

Boston Braves—Bob Detweiler, wrist injury; Art Johnson, shoulder trouble.

Chicago Cubs—Bill Nicholson, back pains.

New York Yankees—Gordon, spike wound in hand; Bill Dickey, broken toe; Atley Donald, sore arm.

Detroit—Evers, broken ankle; Barney McCosky, pulled back muscle; Pat Mullin, strained side; Eddie Maynor, pulled back muscle; Johnny Lipon, infected foot.

Boston Red Sox—Al Fiar, foot trouble; Eddie Pelligrini, back ailment; Eddie McGah, bad finger; Bobby Doerr, leg injury; Ken Chapman, twisted left knee; Van Heflin, sore arm.

Cleveland—Rocco, broken foot.

Chicago White Sox—Ed Smith, sprained shoulder; Dario Lodigiani, twisted finger.

St. Louis Browns—Steve Sundra, twisted knee.

Washington—Gil Coan, blistered feet; Jeff Heath, leg injury.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A monument to Gunder Haegg will be unveiled July 10 in Gaele, the city where he worked as a fireman and first began to make his record-breaking runs.

Rainiers Drop Fifth Straight To Los Angeles

Pacific Coast Baseball League bats should be in a cooler today. In four games played last night, the circuit's stickmen pounded out 88 hits and scored 49 times.

Oakland's Acorns and the Portland Beavers staged the wildest battle, the California team pounded out a 15 to 12 win over their northern rivals. Eight pitchers yielded 34 hits, Portland accounting for 18, Oakland 16.

Los Angeles and Seattle collected a total of 22 hits as the Angels rapped out a 5 to 2 win; San Francisco reached three San Diego pitchers for 11 hits and a 7 to 1 win, and Hollywood nosed out Sacramento 4 to 3 in another free-hitter.

The Angels collected their second straight win over the hapless Rainiers 5 to 2, behind the relatively effective pitching of Dick Conger. The Rainiers, with five losses and no wins, thus far this season, managed to connect with 10 scattered hits, while the Angels bunched 12 safeties in the fifth and seventh innings.

Tacoma's Vaccinated, Set For Invasion

Coach Archie McKinnon of the Victoria Flying "Y" Swimming Club reported today that he had been advised by Wally Streeter, coach of the Tacoma Stadium High School swimming club that his boys have received their vaccinations and that "things are all set now for our invasion of Victoria Saturday." The Tacoma men meet McKinnon's starry pool artists in an international gala, starting at 7:30.

The Tacoma coach had expressed concern to McKinnon earlier that he would be unable to get his lads through the "needle work" in time for the local trip. Streeter will be bringing over a strong contingent to oppose the "Y" squad. His lads recently collected the Washington State championship.

B.C. Title Basketball Legion Vs. Princeton

Canadian Legion stalwarts of the cage courts, coached by Frank Elliott, will be seen in action tomorrow and Friday nights at Victoria High School gym when they battle Princeton, interior champions, in a two-game, total-point series for the British Columbia senior B men's hoop title.

Coach Elliott reported today that he will have his strongest squad on deck, including such well-known players as Ollie Goldsmith, Sonny Walker, Vic Dale, Leon Hall, Bob Fields, Sid Watson, Norm Parfitt, Alec Garnet, Ian Brown and Jim McKeachie.

He reports there will be two-game attractions for both nights, with the preliminaries starting at 7:30 and the feature tilt at 8:30.

It was only last night at mid-night that Elliott got word from the B.C. body that the provincial title campaign would be a two-game affair. Previous to that he had been advised it would be a sudden-death game. As a result today he was one very busy guy arranging for supporting attractions for the two nights of basketball.

The Legionnaires have an enviable record on the hoop floors this season. In 14 games in league action they pulled out with 11 victories. In the city playoffs they came through with the Victoria championship after a torrid five-game series with Black and Whites. Continuing on they took the measure of Duncan and then Cumberland to annex the island championship. Recently they invaded the mainland and defeated Cloverdale to win the coast laurels.

Trail Smokies Show Well

Hold Calgary to Tie

TRAIL (CP)—The Western Canada senior hockey best-of-seven series got away to a terrific start here last night when Calgary Stampede and Trail Smoke Eaters fought to a 1 to 1 deadlock, with the Smokies coming from behind with a goal midway through the third period to earn the tie.

The teams adjourn to Alberta for the remainder of the series, with second and third games scheduled for Calgary, Saturday and Monday. The teams go to Edmonton for the fourth contest, Wednesday, and then back to Calgary to finish the series.

A capacity crowd jammed the ring to watch the Smokies outplay the visitors by a considerable margin through the first two periods, but in the third and in the overtime, the Stampedeers began to assert themselves and took over the edge in the play.

Injuries struck hard at both teams, Pete Slobodian suffering a cut ankle in the first period and calling it quits for the night, while Dave Nicol was put out of action when he got a charley-horse when he was bodied hard in the centre ice zone midway through the game.

The Stampedeers cashed in on a break in the middle session when Scodellaro came out of his net after a loose puck. Red Hunter got hold of the rubber, and stick-handled around Duke and had no difficulty slapping a shot in the rigging.

BUCKNA RETURNS

Mike Buckna, making a surprise return to the Smokies line-up after being on the injured list, spearheaded the Trail offensive, and he tied the score at the 10-minute mark of the third, when he took a pass from Cronie and blistered a hot drive into the corner of the net from about 25 feet out. Russ Dettell had no chance on the shot.

There were close calls aplenty during the rest of the game but both goalies were unbeatable. Scodellaro in particular played a sensational game, and robbed the Stampedeers time and again when they broke through unmolested on him.

Larry Kwong, the China clipper, was out of the Trail line-up with a groin injury, and the hard-pressed Smokies decided at the last minute to press Buckna back into action.

SUMMARY
First period—No scoring. Penalties: Fisher, Michaluk.
Second period—1, Calgary, Hunter, 6:33. Penalty: Michaluk.
Third period—2, Trail, Buckna (Cronie), 10:00. Penalty: Morris.
Overtime period—No scoring. Penalty: Wilder.

Boston Looks for Breaks on Eve of Third Hockey Battle

BOSTON (AP)—Convinced they were out-luckied twice in Montreal, Boston Bruins will attempt to break the Canadiens' winning streak tonight when they open the Boston version of their Stanley Cup hockey play-off series.

The Bruins were prepared to operate without Milt Schmidt, their outstanding centre, who suffered a "Charley horse" in his thigh, Tuesday, while Art Ross' players were dropping their second consecutive sudden-death contest.

Schmidt insisted he would be in shape to play, but if he is overruled Jack McGill will do the trick.

"The Bruins have been playing beautiful hockey against us," Irvin explained, "and they are due to get some of the breaks on their home rink."

Mr. Conn May Get One Big Surprise

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.J. (AP)—Johnny Ray, little blond warrior, who operates as Billy Conn's board of strategy, lifted the lid off one of his top secrets Wednesday at this camp where the Pittsburgh boy is training for his June 19 assault on the heavyweight title of Joe Louis.

Johnny said Conn would carry the fight to Louis all the way—just as he did the last time, in 1941, for 12 rounds, before he got his "Irish" up and was knocked out in the 13th.

"Only this time it's going to be tougher for Joe," Johnny went on. "Billy has more punching power and more weight now."

29 Players Attend Salem Training Camp

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—The Salem Senators of the Western International League worked out at Waters Park today under the watchful eye of club manager Frisco Edwards.

Twenty-nine prospective players turned out for the opener of the 25-day spring training grind and Edwards reported about three more players from the Portland Beavers squad were expected to report Thursday.

The Senators play Oregon State College Friday and Saturday.

Bill Klepper of the Beaver club said Ken Wyatt, pitcher, and Bill Carney, outfielder, now with the Beavers' down south, will join the Senators April 16. Three reporting this week are first baseman George Vico, catcher Red Daniels and catcher Roy Younkens.

Juvenile Soccer

Juvenile soccer teams will meet Saturday in lower island championship finals as follows:
Division Two—Black and Whites vs. Canadian Legion, Victoria High School, 1:15.
Division Three—Olympias vs. Eagles, Heywood Avenue, 1:15.

Blue Line and Balmoral Thistles, fifth division teams, will play an exhibition match at Central Park at 1:15.

Sportsmen, Farmers In Hunting Agreement

THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1946 PAGE 9

Sportsmen, Farmers In Hunting Agreement

Negotiations between officials of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association and the farmers of the Methosin district to secure permission for registered members of the sportsmen club to hunt on the farmers' land in that district have progressed favorably.

While final approval has not been given to the agreement drafted by the two groups' officials, indications at the present time point to a plan that will be to the advantage of both parties.

Members of the local angling and hunting fraternity will hear details of the scheme at Monday night's general meeting to be held at 8 in the Bollemakers' Hall, Government Street, and president Freddy Hughes expresses the hope there will be a big turnout of members for the occasion. The president believes the agreement will be final following an impending meeting of the Methosin farm body.

For many years nimrods have been barred from shooting on the farm properties in the Methosin area, but the sportsmen's governing group, after learning of the co-operative arrangement in practice between Duncan area farmers and sportsmen, set the machinery in motion to endeavor to reach a like agreement with the Methosin agriculturists and report negotiations that have been featured by "a fine spirit" between the two factions.

A similar plan with Saanich farmers is not worth the effort in the view of the association officials chiefly because it is illegal to shoot in that municipality on Sundays.

Neither squad appeared to have much life as the second session got under way and the game slowed considerably. Johnny Hillard was sent off in the dying minutes for holding Clovechuk and while he was off Vancouver evened the count, Clovechuk being credited with the goal.

Smith, Carse and Clovechuk had started a passing attack that was climaxed when Smith drove the puck goalwise and it caromed off Clovechuk's skate into the net.

TWO FAST GOALS

Pressing for a win, Canucks stormed the Hollywood defence as the third period opened and within five minutes Kreller and Pringle counted to give Vancouver a 3 to 1 lead. Prentice was given a two-minute penalty for tripping Clovechuk and Kreller made good his shot while the Wolves were short-handed.

Pringle counted just after Prentice returned to the ice. Bellinger broke away from a Vancouver power play to notch Hollywood's other goal just after the eight-minute mark and for the remainder of the session Canucks appeared content to hold their lead and play slowed considerably.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Hollywood Klein, 9:33. Penalties: Vickery, Bathgate, Barliko.
Second period—2, Vancouver, Clovechuk (Carse, Smith), 19:21. Penalties: Pringle, Hillard.
Third period—3, Vancouver, Kreller (Swaney), 2:42; 4, Vancouver, Pringle (Bathgate), 4:50; 5, Hollywood, Bellinger, 8:35. Penalties: Prentice, Hillard.

Economic Protection Against Japanese Sought in Okanagan

Okanagan Valley farmers want some protection against settlement there of Japanese who during the war were removed from the B.C. coast area, W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition, South Okanagan, told the B.C. Legislature Wednesday afternoon.

Speaking during consideration of the budget salary vote for the minister of agriculture, Mr. Bennett said the protection was sought by the farmers not for racial reasons but because of economics.

Joining with Mr. Bennett in his plea was C. W. Morrow, Coalition, North Okanagan, who said:

"We don't mind assimilating our share. We do not want the Japanese to remain there in those terrifically large numbers we have known during the war."

Mr. Morrow expressed regret that no vote had been provided for an agricultural college which he believed should be established in the Okanagan.

During the discussion Mr. Putnam announced he hoped to put more field men to work this year to point out diseases to potatoes and he had planned to have certified seed areas created in which only certified seed potatoes could be grown, a measure designed to prevent the spread of potato diseases.

RESEARCH PLAN

To aid in guaranteeing markets for possible future farm surpluses, J. H. Corbie, C.C.F., Peace River, advocated an agriculture department research branch which might:

1. Develop better types of plants for certain areas of the province.
2. Foster the production of oils for soap.
3. Develop better packing methods.
4. Improve processing techniques.

niques, including a better method for dehydrating fruit.

Mr. Corbie also advocated a provincial government policy to assure more time for farmers, action to encourage secondary industries which might use the produce of farms, purchases from War Assets Corporation by the department of equipment for distribution to farmers who could not buy the equipment individually, possible establishment of more processing plants in the interior to avoid waste and some action by the agriculture department to assure the future of the farmer.

Mr. Bennett urged irrigation administration be transferred from the lands to the agriculture department. This suggestion was endorsed by Mr. Morrow.

A. C. Hope, Coalition, Delta, suggested that a bonus be provided for farmers using commercial land clearing equipment in districts where the government had no land clearing machinery so that the farmer would secure the machinery for the same cost as the machinery provided under the government's program.

Women's Institutes Used For Propaganda C.C.F. Chief Says

Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch charged in the B.C. Legislature Wednesday night that the government's subsidized Women's Institutes in various parts of the province were used to distribute anti-C.C.F. propaganda.

While endorsing the regular work of the institutes, Mr. Winch said: "I don't think this government should be subsidizing them. I want very much to draw this matter to the attention of the government."

Mr. Winch said he had found at their meetings the institutes distributed pamphlets of the B.C. Federation of Trade and Industry which attacked socialism and the C.C.F.

A. C. Hope, Coalition, Delta, said he would not like it to get abroad that the institutes were carrying on political activities.

Defending the regular work of the institutes were Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria; C. W. Morrow, North Okanagan; Mrs. Tilly Rolston, Vancouver-Point Grey, all Coalitionists.

J. H. Corbie, C.C.F., Peace River, during consideration of agriculture department estimates, urged the government spend more money to advertise agricultural products, and more money for weed control.

Answering a question put by Mr. Corbie, Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam said the government intended to seek power to create livestock disease-free areas.

Advanced Education For Students Not Working For Degrees

Advanced education in university for students not working towards degrees was endorsed in the B.C. Legislature Wednesday afternoon by Education Minister G. M. Weir, who suggested special courses might be arranged for students desiring special knowledge.

Dr. Weir said it was questionable whether British Columbia could absorb all engineers now in training at the university, although some of these students may join the teaching profession. Junior courses, he suggested, could be taken by students who had not graduated from high school, but required special knowledge for their professions.

Junior courses were suggested by Herbert Gargrave, C.C.F., Mackenzie, who advocated that provision be made for students who in the past had been unable to attend university.

Answering Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Coalition, Victoria, Dr. Weir said he believed the University of B.C. would do everything possible to have summer courses arranged so that veterans could complete five-year courses within four years.

VISUAL EDUCATION

Admitting B.C. had been backward in the past, Dr. Weir said the provision of $7,500 for visual education in the estimates was to get a program started in B.C. schools.

The Legislature during the afternoon completed the budget estimates for the education department, endorsing the $20,000 grant for Victoria College, an increase of $10,000 from last year.

Answering Randolph Harding, C.C.F., Kaslo-Slocan, Dr. Weir said the salary schedule presented by Dr. Max Cameron in his report on education finance was merely a basis for further computation. Mr. Harding had suggested the grants were too low and should be revised upward.

Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch suggested B.C. should not hold back on its proper program in the hope of securing further assistance from the federal government. Dr. Weir said he hoped the national government would increase its grant. Mr. Winch was endorsed by Mrs. Tilly Rolston, Coalition, Vancouver-Point Grey.

Mrs. Rolston urged more Canadian history be taught in high schools, saying: "It is appalling how many children know British history but don't know their own Canadian history." She advocated that both Canadian history and citizenship courses be given more prominence.

Admitting B.C. students' knowledge of Canadian history was often "spotty," Dr. Weir said a special committee now was working on the subject in conjunction with social studies. Dr. Weir, replying to Mrs. Hodges, said he would discuss with the Civil Service Commission the salary of Miss Madge Wolfenden, senior archivist in the provincial archives. Mrs. Hodges had contended it was grossly unfair that Miss Wolfenden's salary should be cut when the provincial archivist returned from war service.

High Praise For Bruce A. McKelvie As B.C. Historian

Suggestion of Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch that Bruce A. McKelvie, veteran member of the legislative press gallery, be employed by the province to record the history of British Columbia won wide support in the B.C. Legislature Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Winch, describing Mr. McKelvie as a man who really knew the history of the province, said the government should give him a free hand to put down historical data, drawn from the mass of information locked in his brain which would be lost with his death.

Paying tribute to the work of Mr. McKelvie and endorsing the suggestion that he be employed by the province were Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria; Mrs. Tilly Rolston, Vancouver-Point Grey; Louis LeBourdais, Cariboo; H. J. Welch, Comox; J. H. Cates, North Vancouver; R. H. Carson, Kamloops; and Dr. F. W. Green, Cranbrook, all Coalition members.

"I've never had such support in 14 years," said Mr. Winch.

Manslaughter Case Hearing Completed, Husband Remanded

Frank C. Hinkman was remanded until tomorrow, following completion of his preliminary hearing in city police court today on a manslaughter charge resulting from the death of his wife, Cecily, in a traffic accident on Pandora Avenue, early in the morning of March 23.

Testimony was given by 17 witnesses called by City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison, after which Hinkman's counsel, Gordon Cameron, requested the hearing be remanded until tomorrow, at which time he would address the court.

From evidence heard, Mrs. Hinkman died shortly after she was thrown against the windshield of her husband's car after it had collided with a parked car on Pandora Avenue, between Fernwood Road and Harrison Street, at approximately 2:25 in the morning. The parked machine was owned by Donald McKay, 1388 Pandora Avenue.

Dr. John H. More testified that death was due to hemorrhage from a wound on the right side of Mrs. Hinkman's neck. A branch of the external jugular vein had been severed.

The accident occurred following a party at 1082 Davie Street, which the Hinkmans had attended.

Dr. E. L. McNiven, testifying as to Hinkman's condition following the collision, said he was intoxicated, and in no condition to drive an automobile. Similar testimony was given by police officers called to the scene of the accident.

This evidence was contradicted by Mr. McKay, owner of the car which had been struck, as well as by his father, John McKay, who spoke to Hinkman immediately after the accident, and by witnesses who had attended the party.

Both of the McKays said Hinkman had appeared excited and worried over the condition of his wife.

"He was not intoxicated," said Donald McKay, and his father testified: "I could not say if there was anything else wrong with him."

More Vaccine Here; Set Up Night Clinic

Larger quantities of vaccine will arrive in Victoria to continue the program of mass vaccinations, Dr. Richard Felton, assistant medical health officer, said today, and the health centre will be open today, Friday and Saturday from 2 until 5 in the afternoon, and 7 until 9 in the evening.

Wednesday was the first day when sufficient vaccine was on hand to immunize almost all who came to the health centre, he said, although supplies again ran out about 4 in the afternoon.

School vaccination will start Friday with the Junior High School students being the first to receive vaccination. It is hoped to be able to set up another clinic for general vaccination there in the evenings. A city doctor has volunteered to assist in setting up such a clinic.

Dr. J. E. Dalton is continuing vaccination for Esquimalt residents at 1328 Esquimalt Road every afternoon from 2 until 5. He vaccinated approximately 400 people there Wednesday.

Supplies of vaccine are now arriving in the city in sufficient quantities that the private doctors can be given all they need for their own patients, Dr. Felton said, and this is relieving the congestion at the Health Centre. Monday doctors were given only 10 per cent of what they requested.

Wednesday afternoon's well baby clinic at Victoria West turned into a vaccination clinic, Dr. Felton reported, with more than 50 babies and pre-school children being immunized.

Eleven immunization centres have now been set up in Greater Vancouver and more than 7,000 were vaccinated there Wednesday.

Allows Counter Claim

Judge H. H. Shandley, in a County Court judgment handed down yesterday, dismissed the claim of Roy L. McLeod against Reginald and Mary Clarke for $101.90.

McLeod alleged the Clarks owed him this sum as payment on construction of a dwelling at 2760 Belmont Avenue.

In a counter-claim entered by the Clarks, Judge Shandley found McLeod indebted to them for the sum of $150 for money loaned.

Rehabilitation Group Prepared To Manage Housing Units Here

Citizens' Rehabilitation Council is prepared to take over the management of army hutsments at Signal Hill and Tillicum Road as housing units for veterans, if the municipalities in which they are situated will have the conversion work done, A. Palmer, secretary of the council, said today.

He stated that many representations had been made to the rehabilitation council asking that the organization take over the army hutsments. However, he explained, the federal government would give the hutsments to municipalities only for housing purposes, and as his organization is not a revenue-bearing group, it was not in a position to try and buy and convert the buildings. "However," he said, "we could take them over on the same basis as we are prepared to run the Moral House for the veterans."

Upstairs of House Damaged By Fire

Fire which broke out behind a stove in an upstairs suite of the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maggeridge, 456 Kipling Street, shortly before 9 Wednesday night, gave firemen a two-hour battle only to break out again at 1:05 this morning.

Fire Chief Joseph Raymond said damage was confined to the upstairs part of the house and amounted to "several hundred dollars value."

Construction of the house made it difficult for firemen to reach the flames which burned between plastered walls and laths.

Senator G. G. McGeer will address a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel, Monday, on "Canada and the Empire at Present."

Chamber Concert Introduces Organist, Symphony Members

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
The First United Church auditorium was the setting Wednesday night for a concert of unique interest in the city's musical history. Featuring Lauren B. Sykes of Portland, Ore., as guest artist at the organ, the Victoria Symphony Society and the First United Church choir presented 26 members of the Victoria Symphony in a concert of chamber music. It is hoped to make certain of this type a permanent part of future concert seasons, and if the plan is followed, they will most certainly be a welcome and enriching addition.

Arranged by Melvin Knudsen, who conducted the opening and closing numbers, the program consisted of four groups by the members of the orchestra and the 7th Organ Concerto of Handel, in which Mr. Sykes was accompanied by strings, oboe, clarinet and bassoon. This was a thrilling performance, both on the part of soloist and orchestra. Mr. Sykes' brilliant technique, his mastery use of the pedals and manuals, his phrasing and coloring, place him apart as an organist of considerable stature. His enthusiastic reception lead to the addition of two extra numbers, an arrangement of Boccherini's Minuet, played with the greatest delicacy and Prelude, Fugue and Chaconne, by Dietrich Buxtehude.

Dr. Clem Davies In City, Predicts Russia Will Strike

Dr. Clem Davies, who first preached to Victorians from the pulpit of Centennial Church, returned today from California, where he has been speaking to audiences of 7,000 three times every Sunday "in the south's biggest auditorium, the Shrine, in the heart of Los Angeles."

Dr. Davies will speak tonight in the Empress Hotel's crystal ballroom on "Can World War III Be Averted?"

"Russia," he said, "is on the march and nothing will stop her. This is definitely stated in Ezekiel."

Dr. Davies cited the 38th chapter, first to seven verses. These verses, he said, told how Russia would invade the Levant and challenge the British Commonwealth of Nations in the "latter days."

"Scholars," he added, "define the 'latter days' as the time of the end which we identify as now."

He predicted that Russia would strike overnight at all points from the Caucasus to Egypt and the Persian Gulf. From Ezekiel, too, he prophesied that Iran, Afghanistan, Tibet, Germany and Turkey would become allies of the Soviets, some under force.

Dr. Davies had a word for India, too, saying that country's "projected freedom" would result in her joining the Communist ranks.

"No," he replied to a question, "that doesn't come from Ezekiel. That comes from Revelations."

He described Russia as "lying athwart the roof of the world," and influencing every country on her southern border. He said there were nearly 300,000,000 Communists in India.

Dr. Davies said he would deal tonight especially with present conditions as they affected Canada and the United States. He was going to tell how in a third World War Pacific coast cities would be the target of warfare from the Arctic.

Turning to Los Angeles, he said the youth there had gone mad. There were 37,000 saloons in California. The young people regarded Sinatra, instead of Christ, as their god.

Victoria's new SUBDIVISION in high North Quadra district is divided into a crescent, each lot containing approximately 6,000 square feet and so planned that no one home obstructs the view of the OLYMPIC RANGE and surrounding Victoria area. A building restriction as to value, also fencing, etc., will protect the most discriminating owner. Those who appreciate a choice residential district will want to live in this new subdivision. There are only a few lots left—full particulars will be gladly given—Please call today.

Famed Magician Now at York

Proof of prominent position which any entertainer has achieved in show business is the esteem with which he is held by the fellow members of his profession. Jack Gwynne, currently appearing at the York Theatre, has been featured entertainer at many national gatherings of both amateur and professional magicians, and has been publicized widely in trade papers and house organs of both amateur and professional deceptionists. Such acclamation from his cohorts proves Gwynne's right to the star billing which he receives in both variety and vaudeville appearances.

The high regard with which his contemporaries hold him is evidenced by the story which was devoted to Gwynne in the professional magicians' magazine in 1942, when he celebrated his 30th anniversary as a showman and mystifier. The following excerpt vividly illustrates the position which Gwynne has achieved as a magician: "His record of mystifying and delighting his audiences during 30 years has been so completely successful, and is so well known, that it is quite unnecessary to catalogue his achievements."

Lonely Island House Gives Film Setting

When 10 strangely assorted people, unknown to each other, are tricked into visiting a lonely house on an island somewhere in England—and discover that each is marked for death—the action gets off to a fast start in Rene Clair's "And Then There Were None," the new 20th Century-Fox mystery thriller opening tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre.

Starred in the brilliant cast are Barry Fitzgerald, Walter Huston and Louis Hayward with Roland Young, June Duprez, Sir C. Aubrey Smith, Mischa Auer, Judith Anderson, Richard Haydn, Queenie Leonard and Harry Thurston.

C.C.F. Raises Doubts On Tax Concession

Only major attack on legislation considered by the B.C. Legislature Wednesday night was launched by the C.C.F. against an act to validate a certain by-law of the Corporation of the district of Coquitlam, in which the municipality will be authorized to place a fixed assessment to secure a new industry.

The electors of the municipality had approved a plan in which the Swift Canadian Co. Ltd. would be assessed $150,000 in lieu of $100,000 on a proposed new plant. The reduction in taxes will be for 15 years.

Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch questioned the principle of exempting the company from taxes since the taxpayers would have to pay for the services which the company received. He said the C.C.F. were not opposing the new industry.

A. J. Turner, C.C.F., Vancouver East, asked Municipal Affairs Minister Herbert Anson, if the act could be repealed within the next 15 years. Mr. Anson said he believed the Legislature could do anything it wanted.

Tom King, Coalition, Columbia, suggested the C.C.F. hoped to gain control of the government within that time.

Herbert Gargrave, C.C.F., Mackenzie, wanted to know if the reduced assessment would be used for computing school tax.

C. W. Morrow, Coalition, North Okanagan, contended the assessment was only for municipal purposes and had nothing to do with the school tax, to be set in amendments to the School Act now before the Legislature.

Mr. Gargrave suggested the government would be subsidizing the Swift Canadian Co.

The bill passed through third reading.

Eleven other bills were finally approved on third reading, while two others were stood over for further discussion.

Parking Meters As Experiment in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Installation of 1,000 parking meters on downtown Vancouver streets on an experimental basis was recommended Wednesday by a special subcommittee of the civic traffic commission. The city council approved the "pay-as-you-park" principle last August. The committee's recommendation clears the way for early installation.

Schools Should Be Community Centres Legislators Told

New schools being built in British Columbia should be adapted to serve as community centres, Miss Elizabeth Thomas, group work instructor in the social work department of the University of British Columbia, told the Legislature's standing committee on education and social welfare yesterday.

Miss Thomas said she thought the provincial government should supply the leadership in establishing community recreational programs, because small communities could not afford to do so.

"A broad recreation program should be the responsibility of government, with private agencies helping," she said. "Money contributed voluntarily should be put into better trained leadership, with the government supplying the buildings."

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Coalition member for Victoria, and chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Tilly Rolston, Coalition, Vancouver-Point Grey, reported they had been told by newsdealers that newstands were required to accept a quota of magazines of a salacious nature in order to obtain the better magazines.

The committee decided to ask the provincial government to impress on the Dominion government the need for halting or censoring the salacious literature. Members also criticized censorship of films in British Columbia.

"I think more strict censorship should be exercised on films coming here," Mrs. Rolston said.

D. C. Brown, Coalition, Vancouver-Burrard, asked the committee for support for a resolution calling on the provincial delegates to the next Dominion-Provincial Conference to urge the Dominion government to increase the pension for the blind and to make it available at the age of 21, instead of 40.

Cites Dangers Of Airport Close to City

Site of a Greater Victoria airport should be at a distance far enough from the urban area to protect the public, Reeve A. G. Lambrick of Saanich told the Real Estate Board at their luncheon meeting Wednesday.

"There is no method of controlling private plans at present," said Reeve Lambrick, "and we may have difficulties in the future. Machines in the air may be harder to control than cars today."

He considered that the Dominion Government should give consideration to Patricia Bay as the site of a commercial airport. The municipalities, he felt, were not in a position to help finance a civic airport.

Reeve Lambrick stressed that it took more than 30 minutes to reach most airports for Canadian cities. Among those mentioned were airports at Vancouver and Montreal. He said Patricia Bay could be reached in 30 minutes if the road was widened.

He saw the possibility of large

C.C.F. Member Seeks Divorce Law Amendment

Randolph Harding, C.C.F. member for Kaslo-Slocan, has given notice he will introduce in the Provincial Legislature a motion that the Dominion Government be petitioned to enact a divorce statute similar in its provisions to the English Matrimonial Causes Act.

Mr. Harding's resolution holds that the law relative to divorce and matrimonial causes applicable in British Columbia "is not in accord with modern conditions and public opinion, more particularly in respect of the grounds for the dissolution of marriage."
